Safe Hiking

For those contemplating a short day hike or a long trek into the backcountry, Okanogan-Wenatchee National Forest visitors need to keep a few safety guidelines in mind before heading to the woods.

People generally get in trouble hiking because they are not prepared, don't have the necessary equipment, experience or ability. Here are a few safety guidelines to ensure that your trip is a safe one.

Essentials you should take with you:

- Water. Always take water with you. It's very easy to become dehydrated.
- Food. Pack healthy food you can snack on during your hike.
- First Aid Kit. For those short day hikes, take a little first aid kit that contains things for scrapes and cuts and for insect stings or bites. For the longer hikes, be sure to carry a more extensive first aid kit that might contain pain relievers, roller bandages, gauze, tape, etc.
- Layers of clothing. As weather conditions change, add or remove clothing so that you are comfortable. With the recent storm front that have recently moved through the state, rain gear would also be appropriate for those contemplating multi-day excursions.

What about navigational aids? No, you don't have to have the latest GPS unit or app on your phone. You do need to have a basic knowledge of the area where you're going before you go, though. Know how to read a map and carry it with you on your trip. If you have a compass and know how to use it take it along, too. Remember, trails will be wet and slippery due to recent rainstorms so wear shoes that provide good traction.

Know your physical ability and plan your trek for trails that meet that ability. It is a good idea to start out with shorter hikes and then work up to more advanced levels of hiking. If you're on a hike and realize that the trail is too difficult for your physical ability, just turn around and head to a less strenuous trail.

If you get lost, stay put. Searchers will be looking for you in the area that you said you'd be in. Also, if you move around you may move from where they were going to search next to where they've already searched. Take the advice that is given to children who may become lost—just hug a tree and wait for someone to find you.

Don't disturb animals, and try not to surprise them. Make noise as you go. Whistling or talking will alert animals to your presence.

Always hike with a buddy, never hike alone. Also, let others know where you are going, when you will leave, when you will return and contact them when you're back safely.

WOODCUTTING INFORMATION:

The Industrial Fire Precaution Level is I for all zones except for zone 684 which is a level II (see the map at http://www.dnr.wa.gov/ifpl).

The minimum firewood permit is $20 for four cords of wood. The cost for permits over the four-cord minimum is $5 per cord. The maximum number of cords that may be purchased for personal-use is 12 cords per household per year.

Generally, woodcutters may cut wood lying on the forest floor and standing dead trees, except wildlife habitat trees. Falling snags is not permitted on the Cle Elum Ranger District. No woodcutting is allowed in congressionally designated Wilderness areas.

Things to keep in mind when woodcutting:

- Woodcutters should contact their local ranger district office for up-to-date road conditions.
- Do not drive off of roads onto wet ground to load firewood. Don't travel on roads if road surfaces are slippery and muddy, let them dry out before traveling on them. This will prevent deep ruts from developing.
- Be aware of other forest users, especially mushroom hunters, in areas burned by recent fires.
- The best time to cut firewood is in the late spring and early fall; avoid mid to late summer as woodcutting restrictions may be imposed due to severe fire danger.
- Permits must be purchased in person, no permits will be sold through the mail. Individuals purchasing woodcutting permits need to present a driver's license or other form of picture identification at the time of purchase; they will also need to supply their phone number and address.
- Woodcutters need to abide by the terms and conditions listed on their woodcutting permit. Be sure to read all conditions and requirements listed on the woodcutting permit and be familiar with the info on the map.
- A woodcutting area map is a necessity. These maps show the areas that are open and closed to woodcutting and are available free with the woodcutting permits.
- One cord of firewood measures 4 feet high x 4 feet wide x 8 feet long.
- Always be aware of the Industrial Fire Precaution Level (IFPL) on the day that woodcutting will occur.
   Information on the IFPL or current restrictions may be obtained by viewing the IFPL website at http://www.dnr.wa.gov/ifpl by calling 509-884-3473 or your local ranger district office.
- Special woodcutting rules and conditions apply on the Naches Ranger District; contact their office at 509-653-1401 for specific information. Firewood cutting season on the Naches Ranger District ends on September 30 or the first Sunday in October if Sept. 30 falls on a weekday.

Firewood permits are good through December 31 in the calendar year they are purchased, with the exception of the Naches District, or until areas are no longer accessible. For more information, please contact your local ranger district office.

COMMERCIAL MUSHROOM PERMITS:

Commercial mushroom permits are available for purchase at most Okanogan-Wenatchee National Forest ranger district offices and headquarters office. Collection or possession of more than five gallons per day or the intent to sell mushrooms requires a commercial permit. A two-day permit costs $30, a 30-day permit is $80 and a season permit is $100; be aware the season ends on July 31. Mushroom harvesting area maps and harvesting information brochures are available at forest offices and on the forest website at www.fs.usda.gov/okawen.

PERSONAL USE MUSHROOM GATHERING INFORMATION:

Harvest of five gallons per person per day is free for personal use mushroom gathering.

- Free Incidental Use Mushroom Gathering information sheets must be in the mushroom collector's possession while harvesting and transporting mushrooms for personal use. These information sheets are free and can be downloaded from the forest website at http://go.usa.gov/ct6Ej and are also available at local national forest offices.
- For more information about commercial or personal use mushroom harvesting, please contact any Okanogan-Wenatchee National Forest office during business hours 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, or go to the forest website at http://www.fs.usda.gov/goto/okawen/mushroom.
- Washington State forest product transportation requirements can be found under RCW 76.48.060 and at http://apps.leg.wa.gov/rcw/default.aspx?cite=76.48.

HAZARDS FOUND IN WILDFIRE AREAS:

Following are a variety of hazards to watch out for when traveling through areas burned in wildfires.

- Snags and damaged trees—blackened dead trees or green trees burned through at the bottom—can fall at any time possibly striking people or property; they can block trails or roads, including your exit even though travel was unimpeded when you entered the area.
- Snags can make travel difficult if a lot of trees have fallen across the landscape.
- Stump holes and root channels can still be burning and often are hidden from sight until stepped upon.
- Steep slopes and loss of vegetation may cause rolling rocks and debris flows off hillsides at any time but the likelihood increases with rain and freeze-thaw events.
- Loss of vegetation increases the potential for erosion to occur with any rain event. Water runoff may cause flooding that impacts or clogs road culverts and storm drains; sediment may move downstream affecting lands a long distance from the burned areas.
- Even with minor precipitation, road culverts can become plugged with material and cause debris flows.

Some things to do to be prepared when traveling through burned areas:

- Don't loiter in the burned areas, travel quickly through burned areas to reach your favorite recreation sites outside of the burns
- Carrying a saw or axe with you is a good idea when traveling on forest roads
- Stay current on weather forecasts and avoid areas that have been severely burned
- Do not try to cross an active mud or debris flow
- Let someone know where you are going and when you plan to return home

For more information, please call the local national forest office or go to the forest web site at www.fs.usda.gov/okawen .

INVASIVE WEEDS: Crews continue treatment to eradicate noxious weeds. A wide variety of invasive species including knapweed, orange hawkweed, thistle, and Dalmatian toadflax, as well as many other weed species, will be treated using herbicides applied by a licensed technician. Signs will be posted in areas that have been treated using herbicides. Weeds will also be hand-pulled in many areas. For more information contact Cle Elum District Botanist Helen Lau at 509-852-1100.

LOGGING UPDATE: Logging operations are underway in the Lost Lake area. Please use caution and observe all warning signs in the area. Expect log truck traffic on Lost Lake Road No. 5480 and 5480-124. Operations are also continuing on FS Road No. 9070 in the Cold Creek area.

FIREWOOD: Permits to cut firewood for personal use are available at the Cle Elum Ranger Station and the Kittitas County Chamber of Commerce Visitor Centers in Cle Elum and Ellensburg. The minimum purchase is four cords for $20 and a maximum of 12 cords for $60 per household per year. A valid firewood permit must be in the woodcutter's possession when removing firewood from National Forest lands. It is not necessary to have a permit to collect campfire wood that will be burned on the National Forest.

Firewood collection areas are limited to the greater Buck Meadows area in the South Fork Manastash and the lower Reecer Creek area and the Ken Wilcox Horse Camp on the Cle Elum Ranger District; snag felling is not permitted. Check frequently with the ranger station for information on newly opened woodcutting areas.

ROADS: All roads snow free. Please report damage or other concerns to the Cle Elum Ranger Station.

- The North Fork Teanaway Road No. 9737 is closed at mile post 8.6 which is approximately 1.5 miles below the Esmeralda/Ingalls Way trailhead.
- The Liberty Beehive Road No. 9712 is closed below its junction with Road No. 9718 due to a washout.

The trail crew staff at the Cle Elum Ranger District greatly appreciates early season trail reports from members of the public. Your reports can help trail crew members plan trail maintenance. When reporting blowdown, in addition to the number of blowdown and approximate location, include the diameter of the largest trees as this will determine what tools will be needed for removal.

The main bridges over Early Winters Creek are in good condition, the upper one is still under construction. There are a few minor snow patches on the trail. This trail is very difficult for a novice hiker, especially the east side of the loop. Once across the first bridge over Early Winters Creek, at 0.4 mile, until the 1.1 mile point, there are numerous bridges and walkways that are damaged, rotting, and in the rain unsafe to walk on due to slickness. ### NACHES RANGER DISTRICT

The office phone number is (509) 653-1401.

OFFICE HOURS: The Naches Ranger Station foyer is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week with handouts and forest information available to the public during non-office hours. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The office is closed daily for lunch from 12:00 to 12:30. No permit sales after 4 p.m.

WILDFLOWERS: Wildflowers are blooming and can be found at high elevation areas.

BOULDER CAVE, BOULDER CAVE DAY USE SITE and TRAIL: Boulder Cave, Boulder Cave Day Use Site, and Trial No. 962 leading to Boulder Cave are now open. Hosts and interpreters are at the cave instructing visitors about new procedures when entering the cave. Due to white-nose syndrome, which has been found in bats in western Washington, the following steps are recommended at Boulder Cave to help prevent the spread of this disease. White-nose syndrome is a disease in bats caused by a fungus, and has killed millions of bats in the eastern U.S. Humans may spread the fungus in soil attached to footwear, clothing and gear. To help prevent the spread of this disease, visitors to caves and climbing areas are requested to do the following:

- DO NOT wear the same footwear used in other caves or climbing areas unless completely cleaned.
- DO NOT bring dogs into caves as they may act as carriers of the fungus to new sites.
- CLEAN your shoes and clothing of any soil or mud before entering a cave or climbing area.
- CLEAN AGAIN after exiting a cave or climbing area.
- WASH your hands and exposed skin.
- CHANGE into clean clothing and shoes before entering your vehicle to leave.
- CLEAN equipment that cannot be washed with alcohol wipes, so the wipes will not damage the equipment.
- When returning from visiting caves, WASH clothing, hats or shoes in hot, soapy water at 131°F (55°C) or hotter for at least 20 minutes.

If you see bats, please avoid disturbing them, and do not handle live bats. Report dead or sick bats, or groups of bats at http://go.usa.gov/cJyDQ.

MOTORIZED TRAILS: All motorized trails are now open. Passenger cars/truck vehicles are allowed on Forest Service roads only, use of ATV's, UTV's or any other off road vehicle is prohibited on Forest Service roads.

Before leaving home, always leave a detailed written trip itinerary with a responsible family member or friend. Washington Trails Association web site (www.wta.org) is also an excellent site for obtaining updates on current trail conditions.

WILDERNESS TRAILS: There is still snow in the higher elevation areas in the forest, making access to hiking on the wilderness trails difficult. Crow Lake Way Trail is closed until further notice due to extensive flood damage. It will be slow clearing out wilderness trails this year because of all the blown down trees that have fallen across the trails due to wind storms and heavy snow last winter. Be prepared to encounter numerous trees blown down across trails. Mosquitoes are abundant and very hungry.

TRAILS: All trails are now open. There may be trees across trails. We anticipate more trails to be maintained by late July. Some trails in the Pasayten Wilderness have patchy snow or snowy conditions depending upon elevation. There may be new snowfall due to predicted rain storms this week. Conditions will continue as such until late July, depending on weather and rate of snow melting.

In the Pasayten Wilderness no trail clearing has begun, expect delays due to the overwhelming amount of tree and tree limb breakage due to wind damage and the heavy winter snow load. A portion of the Pacific Northwest Trail No. 340 is closed until further notice due to damage caused by last summer's Newby Lake Fire. This trail is in the extreme northeast corner of the Pasayten Wilderness. Please call 509-486-2186 for more information. Go to the forest website at http://go.usa.gov/8fKA for a complete list of trails and directions.

- The White River Road is washed out and is impassable to vehicles.

As roads are melting out we are finding extensive damage from intense fall rains and winter storms. Some areas normally accessible this time of year will not be due to road damage. We appreciate your patience as we deal with these issues and try to get areas open as soon as possible.
